1. Introduction

The purpose of this study is to investigate the effects of various factors on the performance of a system. The study is organized as follows: Section 2 describes the methodology used in the study. Section 3 presents the results of the study. Section 4 discusses the implications of the findings. Section 5 concludes the study.

2. Methodology

The methodology used in this study is a combination of experimental and analytical methods. The experimental part of the study involves the use of a test system to measure the performance of the system under various conditions. The analytical part of the study involves the use of mathematical models to predict the performance of the system. The results of the study are presented in Section 3.

3. Results

The results of the study are presented in this section. The performance of the system is measured in terms of the number of errors per unit time. The results show that the performance of the system is significantly affected by the various factors studied.

4. Discussion

The implications of the findings of the study are discussed in this section. The results show that the performance of the system can be improved by controlling the various factors studied.

5. Conclusion

The study concludes that the performance of the system is significantly affected by the various factors studied. The results show that the performance of the system can be improved by controlling the various factors studied.

Subject: Re: 209 N Taylor St Red Bud IL

Hello, thank you very much for returning my call earlier today. I'm sure this all sounds very odd! But, it would be very beneficial to the county if we could have this particular sale removed from our Sales Ratio Study with the Dept. of Revenue. We must provide proof from either the Buyer, Seller or the company that prepared the Transfer Declaration. If you agree with the following statement please add your name between "Signed" and "Seller" and reply back to this email. Thank you again for your time.

RE: 13-088-012-00/2019R00673

To Whom It May Concern:

I purchased the property at 209 N Taylor Street, Red Bud, Illinois on November 28, 2017. Shortly after the first of the year I began major renovations and remodeling throughout the house before selling it on March 4, 2019.

Signed,

Patricia E. Phillips

Instructions for Form PTAX-203-B

General Information

You must file Form PTAX-203, Illinois Real Estate Transfer Declaration, and any required documents at the county recorder's office within the county where the property is located. It is due within three business days after the transfer or at the time of recordation, whichever is earlier. You must prove that the tax was paid (or pay the tax again) if you record this transfer at a later date.

Note: You must file Form PTAX-203-B, Illinois Real Estate Transfer Declaration Supplemental Form B, if you are transferring a beneficial interest in real property without using a deed or trust document.

Definitions

The tax is imposed on the privilege of transferring title to real estate or a beneficial interest in real property that is located in Illinois. A "beneficial interest" includes, but is not limited to, the lessee interest in a ground lease, the indirect interest in real property as reflected by a controlling interest in a real estate entity, or any other type of interest with the right to use or occupy real property or the right to receive income from real property.

- A ground lease (including any interest of the lessee in the related improvements) is subject to tax if it provides for a term of 30 or more years when all options to renew or extend are included, whether or not any portion of the term has expired.
- A controlling interest transfer is subject to tax if it includes more than 50 percent of the fair market value of all ownership interests or beneficial interests in a real estate entity. A "real estate entity" means any person including, but not limited to, any partnership, corporation, limited liability company, trust, other entity, or multi-tiered entity, that exists or acts substantially for the purpose of holding directly or indirectly title to or beneficial interest in real property. There is a rebuttable presumption that an entity is a real estate entity if it owns, directly or indirectly, real property having a fair market value greater than 75 percent of the total fair market value of all of the entity's assets, determined without deduction for any mortgage, lien, or encumbrance.
- Examples of other types of transfers of a beneficial interest include air rights, air space rights, co-operative housing rights, condominium rights, development rights, easements, mining rights, royalty interests, timber rights and time share rights.

Real Estate Entity-Aggregation of related transfers

Unless made pursuant to contracts executed prior to June 1, 2004, related transfers will be aggregated for the purpose of determining whether there has been a transfer of a controlling interest in a real estate entity.

Related transfers include

- Multiple transfers of interests in the same real estate entity that occur within a rolling 24-month period by the same transferor.
- Multiple transfers of interests in the same real estate entity that occur within a rolling 24-month period by different transferors who act in concert as a result of common ownership.
- Multiple transfers of interests in the same real estate entity that occur within a rolling 24-month period by different transferors who act in concert as a result of a common purpose in structuring and executing the transfers including instances when sales agreements contain mutual terms or other agreements bind the transferors to a particular course of action.

Step 3: Real estate entity information

Line 10b — Write an amount only if the real estate entity was liable and actually paid corporate franchise taxes under the Business Corporation Act of 1983 as a result of a controlling interest transfer.

Step 4: Calculate the amount of transfer tax due.

Line 11a — Write the full actual consideration (including the total value of the aggregate interest on Line 9a for controlling interest transfers). Full actual consideration is the total sale price or amount actually paid (or required to be paid) for the real estate or beneficial interest in real property, whether paid in money or otherwise, including personal property, real property, services, or other items of value. Include the amount of any indebtedness or other obligation that is cancelled, discharged, or otherwise released. Include the amount of outstanding mortgages to which the property remains subject after the transfer. Include the amount for other real estate transferred in a simultaneous exchange between the same parties. Include the amount of any back real estate taxes or other taxes paid by the transferee. Do not include any amount credited against the sale price or refunded for improvements or repairs.

Lines 12a, 14, and 15 — See corresponding instructions on Form PTAX-203, Illinois Real Estate Transfer Declaration.

Explain any special circumstances.
